

To increase or decrease the size of the selective edit, pinch out or in to see a highlighted red circle. You can adjust the size depending on the area you need to edit on the image. To add an additional selective editing location, tap on the plus sign on the bottom left side. Tap on the check-mark to save your image. Now you can quickly edit any section in this image as mentioned in this Snapseed tutorial.

Brush Tool

The brush tool allows you to paint on different effects in only the desired area on your image. The first brush option is dodge and burn. This feature gently lightens and darkens areas of the image where the brush tool was used. The term dodge and burn comes from an old darkroom photo editing and retouching technique.

The process includes lightening and darkening small specific portions of the image. To lighten or darken the image, press the up or down arrow. Next, adjust the exposure by increasing or decreasing with the arrows. You can do the same thing to the temperature and the saturation in regions of the image.
