

For the purpose of this tutorial we will be using a landscape shot.

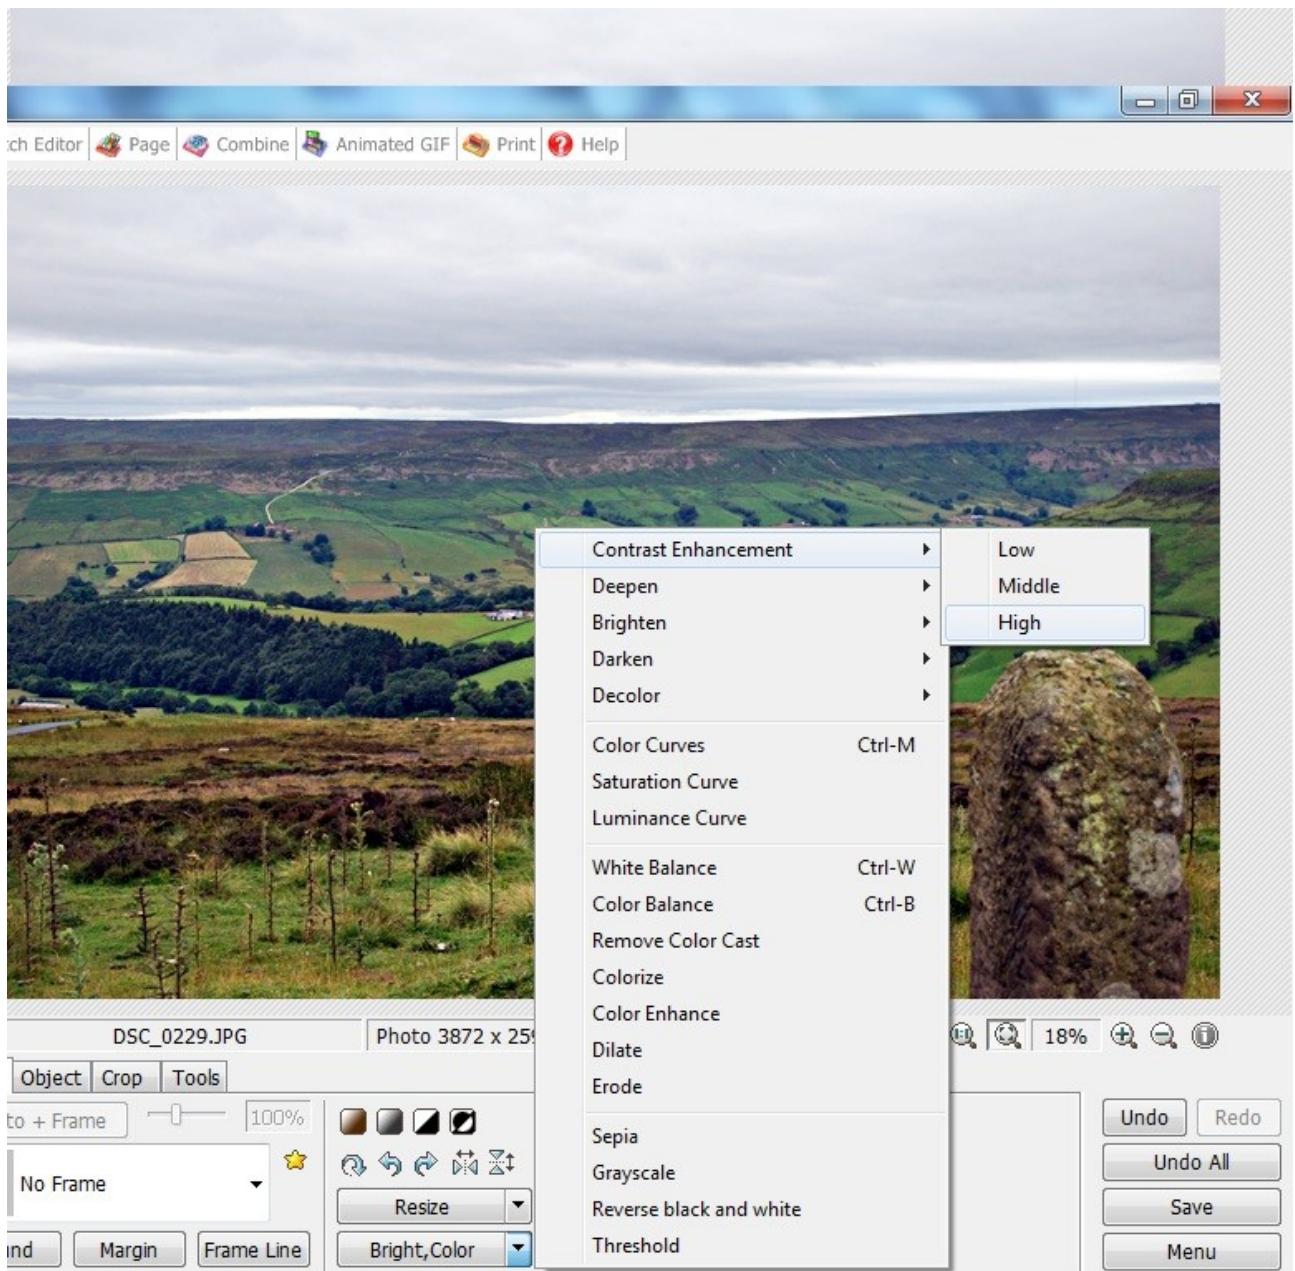

As before open the image in photoscape by right clicking and choosing the OPEN WITH option then clicking on the photoscape icon.

Follow the first step in lesson 1 to enhance the photograph automatically by clicking on the AUTO LEVEL button.

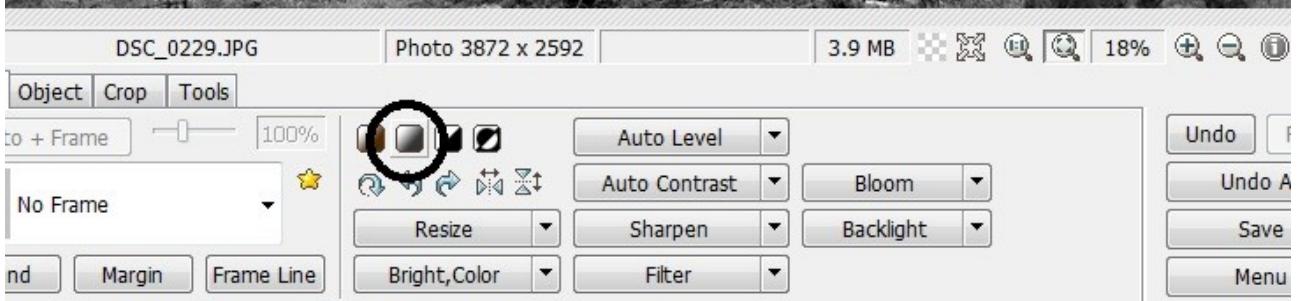

Now follow the step in lesson one to enhance the contrast , click on the small arrow beside the BRIGHT, COLOUR button, move your mouse to the CONTRAST ENHANCEMENT button then click HIGH.

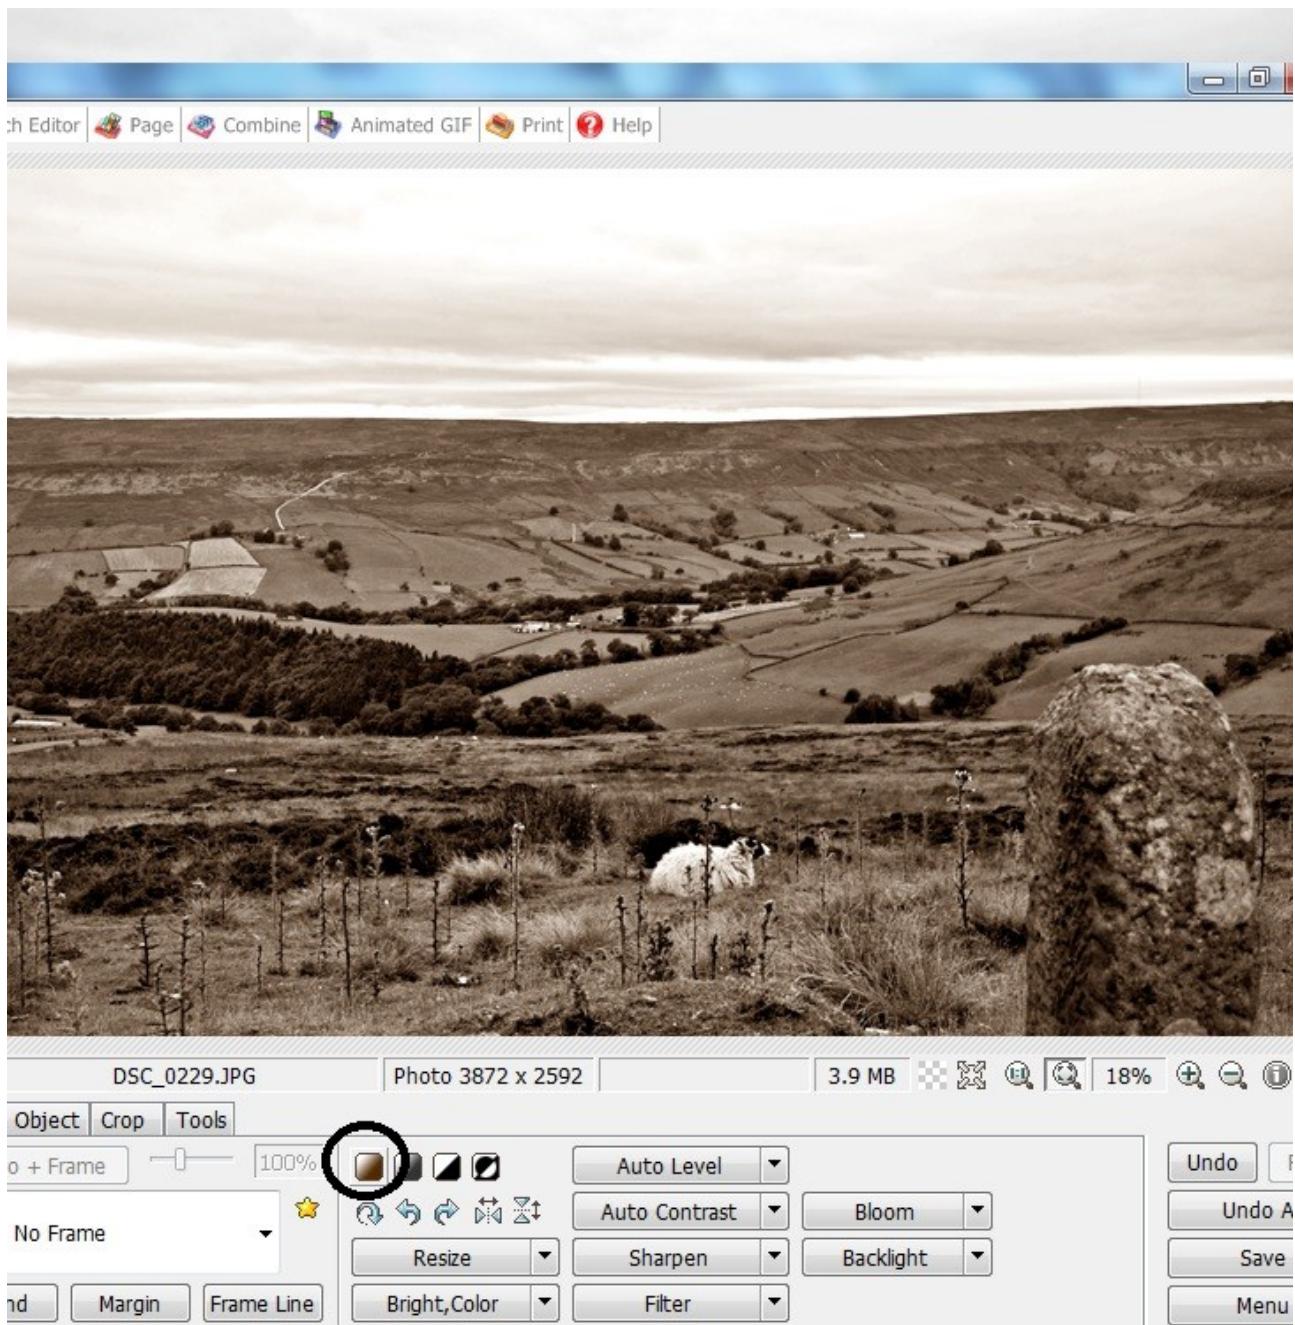

Next we are going to turn the image Monochrome (black&white).

You will see a row of four boxes above the button which says RESIZE click on the GREY box.

Alternatively you can use the SEPIA box to give your image an old look, to do this click on the box to the left of the grey box you used to turn your image monochrome.

This brings us to the end of this short tutorial, there are a lot more controls you can play around with, spend time experimenting with each control, click on the small arrows beside each button to get further menu's and more options of effects to enhance your images.
